 - I can write the letter or letters for most of the consonant sounds I hear.
 - I can write the letter or letters for most of the short vowel sounds I hear.
 - I can look at each consonant and say its sound.
- Work Time: I can read and spell VC and CVC words with the phonemes (sounds) /e/, /l/, /f/, /r/, /b/, /d/, /p/, /g/, /y/, /s/, /t/, /n/, /m/, /v/, /w/. (RF.1.3, L.1.2)

- Gather materials for differentiated small group instruction (see Differentiated Small Groups: Work with Teacher).

Vocabulary

Key:

(L): Lesson-Specific Vocabulary

(T): Text-Specific Vocabulary

- blend, decode, proficient (L)

Materials

- ☒ Short “e” anchor chart (see supporting materials)
- ☒ Whiteboards (or sheet protectors with white cardboard inside; one per student or pair)
- ☒ Whiteboard markers (one per student)
- ☒ Whiteboard erasers (or tissues, socks, etc.; one per student)
- ☒ Movable letters (magnetic letters, Letter Cards in a pocket chart, or other letters that can be displayed and moved; one each for teacher modeling: “e,” “r,” “d,” “b,” “f,” “h”; from Lesson 26)

- ☒ Snapshot Assessment (optional; one per student)

Opening

A. Phonemic Blending and Segmentation: /e/, /r/, /d/, /b/, /f/

- (Suggested transition song, sung to the tune of “The More We Get Together”):

“Sit down and come together, together, together. Sit down and come together, together, right now. It’s time to make three sounds and blend them together. Let’s listen to each sound now, and blend them to make a word.”
- Begin the Phonemic Blending and Segmentation instructional practice:
- Teacher says: “We will make words using sounds that we know. Listen carefully while I do the first one.”
 1. Teacher says the phonemes (sounds) in the first word: “red” (/r//e//d/) using the thumb-tapping technique.
 2. Teacher says: “When I blend the sounds together, they make the word ‘red.’” Teacher runs a thumb under all three fingers to model blending the phonemes to make the word.

3. Students repeat the thumb-tapping technique, pronouncing each phoneme: /r//e//d/.
4. Students run a thumb under all three fingers to blend the word: “red.”
5. Teacher says the phonemes in the next word: “bed” (/b/ /e/ /d/).
6. Students use the thumb-tapping technique to pronounce each phoneme: /b//e//d/.
7. Teacher asks:
“What word do these three sounds make when blended together?” (“bed”)
8. Repeat steps 5–7 for the last word: “fed.”

Meeting Students' Needs

- For students who have difficulty with the dexterity needed for the thumb task, encourage them to tap the thumb on the opposite hand.
- Consider facing the board while modeling and looking over a shoulder at students so writing is modeled from left to right.
- Consider facing the students when modeling how to skywrite and instructing them to mirror you.

Opening

B. Writing the Letter to Match the Sound: “e,” “r,” “d,” “b,” “f”

- (Suggested transition song, sung to the tune of “The More We Get Together”):
“Now it’s time to match these sounds to their letters and write them. Now it’s time to match these sounds to their letters, let’s go!”
- Begin the Writing the Letter to Match the Sound instructional practice:
 1. Teacher says: “You will write the letters that match each sound you hear. These letters will help us write words.”
 2. Teacher shows a picture of something red.
 3. Teacher says the word: “red.”
 4. Teacher pronounces the phonemes (sounds): /r/ /e/ /d/.
 5. Students repeat: /r/ /e/ /d/.
 6. Teacher repeats the phonemes, writing the grapheme (letter) for each phoneme as he or she says it and inviting students to repeat by skywriting (see Letter Formation chart for suggested formation of each letter):
 - Teacher says “/r/” and writes the grapheme “r,” on the board explaining the motions of letter formation as it is written.
 - Students skywrite “r.”
 - Teacher says “/e/” and writes the grapheme “e,” explaining the motions of letter formation as it is written.
 - Students skywrite “e.”
 - Teacher says “/d/” and writes the grapheme “d,” explaining the motions of letter formation as it is written.

- Students skywrite “d.”
 - Teacher and students pronounce the phonemes once more as they point to each grapheme (/r//e//d/), then blend together to say the word “red.”
7. Repeat steps 2–6 for the remaining words: “bed” and “fed.”
 8. Teacher asks:
“What is the middle letter in all of these words?” (“e”)
 9. Teacher says: “Right; ‘e’ is in every word. Every word in the English language has a vowel in it; ‘e’ is the vowel in all of these words, and it makes the short vowel sound /e/ in all of these words.”
 10. Teacher shows students the Short “e” anchor chart and reminds them of the story of the elephant (see Kindergarten Appendix). Teacher writes “red” on the anchor chart, underlining the “e” to indicate where the /e/ sound is heard.
 11. Teacher says: “‘Red’ is a word that has the short /e/ sound. We will continue to collect words that have this sound and add them to the chart throughout the year.”

Work Time

A. Chaining: Decoding /e/, /l/, /f/, /r/, /b/, /d/, /p/, /g/, /y/, /s/, /t/, /n/, /m/, /w/

- (Suggested transition song, sung to the tune of “The More We Get Together”):
“Now it’s time to decode words using the letter sound connections; now it’s time to decode words; be careful, watch for a change.”
- Distribute whiteboards, whiteboard markers, and whiteboard erasers.
- Begin the decoding (reading) part of the Chaining instructional practice:
 1. Teacher shows the word with movable letters: “led.”
 2. Teacher points to each letter from left to right, making each sound and blending to pronounce the word “led.”
 3. Students write “led” on their whiteboards. Emphasize proper letter formation (see Letter Formation chart for suggested formation of each letter).
 4. Students point to each letter from left to right, making each sound and blending to pronounce the word “led.”
 5. Teacher removes the “l” and replaces it with an “f.” Teacher asks:
“How has the word changed?” (The first letter is an “f” instead of an “l.”)
“How has the word stayed the same?” (“-ed” is the same.)
 6. Students erase the “l” and write an “f” in its place to form the new word: “fed.”
 7. Students point to each letter from left to right, making each sound and blending to pronounce the word “fed.”
 8. Repeat steps 5–8 with remaining words: “red,” “bed,” “Ben,” “den,” “pen,” “pet,” “let,” “get,” “yet,” “bet,” “best,” “bend,” “mend,” “send,” “sent,” “tent,” “went,” “bent.”
 9. Teacher records all of the words in a list and guides students to read the entire list of words (as a group and/or individual volunteers).

Meeting Students' Needs

- Consider extending the word reading in step 10 to include discussion of words that name a person, place, or thing, and those that describe actions. Move to naming these as nouns and verbs.
- Consider naming words such as "sent" and "went" as words that describe an action that has already happened (past tense).

Work Time

B. Chaining: Encoding /e/, /l/, /f/, /r/, /b/, /d/, /p/, /g/, /y/, /s/, /t/, /n/, /m/, /w/ ("led," "fed," "red," "bed," "Ben," "den," "pen," "pet," "let," "get," "yet," "bet," "best," "bend," "mend," "send," "sent," "tent," "went," "bent")

- (Suggested transition song, sung to the tune of "The More We Get Together"):
"Now it's time to spell the words, using letter sound connections. Now it's time to spell the words; be careful, listen for the sounds."
- Continue the Chaining instructional practice, now focusing on the encoding portion:
 1. Teacher says the first word: "led."
 2. Students say: "led."
 3. Teacher writes the letters that correspond to each sound on the board, emphasizing proper letter formation (see Letter Formation chart for suggested formation of each letter): l-e-d.
 4. Teacher covers the word "led."
 5. Students write the word on their whiteboards from memory: "led."
 6. Teacher uncovers the word.
 7. Students check their spelling.
 8. Students erase their whiteboards.
 9. Teacher says the next word: "fed."
 10. Students write the word on their boards from memory: "fed."
 11. Teacher writes the word on the board.
 12. Students check their spelling.
 13. Repeat steps 9–12 with the remaining words: "red," "bed," "Ben," "den," "pen," "pet," "let," "get," "yet," "bet," "best," "bend," "mend," "send," "sent," "tent," "went," "bent."

Closing and Assessment

A. Reflecting on Learning

- Emphasize that successful learners keep track of and reflect on their own learning. Point out that they are doing this each time they consider how what they did today helps them to become more proficient readers.

- Invite students to reflect and share with a partner (or whole group). Ask:

“What did you do today that is helping you become a more proficient reader?”
(Responses will vary. Example: “I matched sounds to letters to blend sounds together to make a word.”)

Meeting Students’ Needs

- For students who need additional support organizing their ideas: Provide sentence frames. Examples:
 - “When I made the sounds for the word ____, I ____.”
 - “When I wrote the letter ____, I ____.”
 - “When I blended the sounds ____, I ____.”

Differentiated Small Groups: Work with Teacher

Suggested Plan: Teacher works with the Pre-Alphabetic and Partial Alphabetic groups. Teacher may meet briefly with the Full and Consolidated groups to provide a weekly Word List and exit ticket or possibly set up a management system allowing these students to find the list and exit ticket and begin work independently.

Note: Groups not working with the teacher at a given time should be engaged in purposeful independent rotation work. Refer to the Independent and Small Group Work guidance document for more details (see K–2 Skills Resource Manual).

Pre-Alphabetic:

- Aim small group instruction at building students’ knowledge and skills of letter identification and phonological awareness.
- Use the Assessment Conversion chart to determine appropriate Kindergarten lessons and Activity Bank ideas to use in daily small group instruction.

Partial Alphabetic:

- Use the assessments from the previous cycle to determine whether students in this group have mastered decoding and encoding VC and CVC words with short “a,” “i,” “u,” and “o.” Consider continuing work with any short vowel that needs further time.
- If students have mastered short “e,” work on chaining (decoding and encoding) using digraphs “sh” and “th.” Use real and nonsense words (e.g., “shep,” “thed”). Emphasize how the sounds feel and how the mouth changes position from one sound to the next.
- If students have not mastered short “e,” work on chaining and spelling from memory with short “e” only. Start with VC until mastery is achieved using real and nonsense words (e.g., “ep,” “het”). Review any consonant sounds and letter formation that may not be automatic.
- Related Activity Bank suggestions for use in either small group with teacher or independent work time:
 - An Activity Bank activity from the Decoding and Encoding category (DE)
- Onset/Rime Slides

Full and Consolidated Alphabetic:

- Establish weekly Word Lists and exit tickets for independent work time.
- Additional Supporting Materials:
 - Word List Guidance (for teacher reference)
 - Word List (one per student or pair)
 - Word Card Template (example, can be revised based on needs of group; one per student or pair)
 - Sorting Words Template (one per student or pair)
